Privacy of Psychometric Test Results

Part of the unique value of the Boardroom Mastery™ Course is the evidence-based approach afforded by the use of psychometric tests – called Hogan Surveys.

Change Focus Group Pty Ltd (Change Focus) have been selected for their relevance to leadership and governance, with the aim of helping leaders to better understand themselves and their impact on colleagues. Reports and debriefing are conducted by Change Focus personnel, a firm of organisational psychologists specialising in leadership profiling and coaching. As psychologists registered with the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA), they are bound by strict privacy and confidentiality rules, and have their own Privacy Statement which can be viewed at www.change-focus.com.au/SiteData/privacy.html

The following information summarises the key privacy principles as they relate to the psychometrics surveys conducted for AICD.

Intent of Use

The resulting data and reports from testing, are only available to the person identified as the test taker, and the psychologist or coach working with them.

Individually identifiable results will not be provided to anyone else, either within or outside of AICD, without the individual's consent. Change Focus is required to keep records of test results for seven years and these are stored in digital form under strict security arrangements.

Consent

By undertaking psychometric testing, you are consenting to the information you provide being collected and used for professional development purposes as per the above guidelines.

If you still have questions about the privacy of our testing, feel free to contact your AICD representative on boardroommastery@aicd.com.au or a Change Focus psychologist (07 3511 0588).

If you continue to have concerns or wish to speak to someone else, you can contact the Office of the Federal Privacy Commissioner on 1300 363 992.
